20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration's (SAMHSA) Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) National Advisory Council accomplishes its purpose through advising, consulting with, and making recommendations to the Health & Human Services Secretary; the Assistant Secretary for Mental Health and Substance Use, SAMHSA; and the Director, CSAP; concerning matters relating to the activities carried out by and through the Center and the policies regarding such activities. The Council also provides insight to and stimulates discussions on issues critical to the field of substance abuse prevention. The CSAP National Advisory Council provides a secondary level review of grant applications and cooperative agreements as required under Section 504 (c)(2) of the Public Health Service Act and recommends for approval applications for projects that contribute to the Center's mission. To further accomplish its purpose, in Fiscal Year 2018, council members participated in two open meetings, and conducted five grant reviews. Topics involved CSAP's budget, updates on the opioid crisis, workforce development, CSAP media and educational campaigns, and National Prevention Week.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The CSAP National Advisory Council is composed of 12 members appointed by the Secretary. Nine of the members are leaders in health disciplines (public health, behavioral and social sciences) relevant to the activities of the Center. Three members are from the general public (e.g., leaders in the fields of public policy, public relations, health policy economics or management). The Council also has five nonvoting ex officio members: The Secretary, HHS; the Assistant Secretary for Mental Health and Substance Use, SAMHSA; the Director, CSAP; the Director, National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism; and the Director, National Institute on Drug Abuse. Appointments are made on the basis of experience and expertise as well as equitable gender representation, race/ethnicity representation, and geographic distribution. All Council members participate fully in policy and program development and grant and cooperative agreement reviews, each bringing to bear their unique perspective.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The Council met two times during this reporting period. The Council continues to perform its mandated functions of providing guidance to the Center regarding programmatic policies and priorities, as well as to conduct secondary review of grant applications. Agendas are based on the most current issues facing the agency.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The Council is able to provide advice on all aspects of the Center's activities relating to prevention services. The Council is composed of professional and public members who provide a second level of review for grant applications and cooperative agreements for services and demonstration projects. The Council is specifically composed of a balanced membership, including leaders from various disciplines, as well as members of the public. In no other forum would this type of membership exist otherwise to provide the Center/ Agency with programming and policy advice as a body.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

N/A

Narrative Description

SAMHSA is directed by Congress to target substance use and mental health services to the people most in need and to translate research in these areas more effectively and more rapidly into the general health care system. Over the years SAMHSA has demonstrated that - prevention works, treatment is effective, and people recover from mental and substance use disorders. Behavioral health services improve health status and reduce health care and other costs to society. Continued improvement in the delivery and financing of prevention, treatment and recovery support services provides a cost effective opportunity to advance and protect the Nation's health. SAMHSA's Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) works to improve the quality of substance use prevention practices nationwide. Through its discretionary grant programs, CSAP provides states, communities, organizations, and families with tools to promote protective factors and reduce risk factors for substance use. The National Advisory Council supports SAMHSA's mission by providing input on policies and planning based on the collective experience of the members in the area of substance use prevention.
